Season’s Greetings and a Happy New Year 2021!
Difficulties finding an apprenticeship during the corona crisis? – at the University of Stuttgart, this is no problem! The university is not only attractive for students, but also for those who have chosen to do an apprenticeship. This fall, we welcomed a number of young people who have chosen to complete an apprenticeship in an academic environment – in our laboratories, workshops or in administration – albeit in rather different circumstances to previous years, due to the corona pandemic. One of these is Stefanie Weber, who has chosen to do an apprenticeship in office management at the Central Administration. She is the face of our Christmas card – with “Healthy. Jointly!” mask, of course.

It is time to look back on the year 2020 - a quite different and rather challenging year! It was largely characterized by uncertainty and change, but also by creativity, hope and an impressive show of commitment. The University of Stuttgart successfully tackled the challenges it faced and would like to thank everyone for their cooperation and mutual confidence and trust.

We wish you a happy Christmas and good health and lots of energy for 2021!
